Name _____ Date _____

Mateo and his mom made a kite out of paper and sticks. It was green, with a long yellow tail.

On Saturday they took it to the park. Mateo ran fast with the string. The kite went up a little, then fell in the grass. He tried again. It fell again. The air was still. The leaves on the trees did not move.

“We need wind,” said Mom. “Let’s try again tomorrow.”

On Sunday, the trees swayed. Mom’s hat almost blew off. Mateo held the string, and Mom let go of the kite. The wind took it up, up, up! The yellow tail waved in the sky. Mateo held on tight and laughed.
